OUR MISSION

The Botanical Education Alliance (BEA) is an organization dedicated to educating consumers, lawmakers, law enforcement, and the media about safe and effective natural supplements including Mitragyna speciosa, also known as Kratom. Our mission is to increase understanding in order to influence public policy and protect natural supplements. Our vision is to create a society where every adult has the right to access safe and effective natural supplements.

The BEA pursues this mission by engaging the Kratom community and informing decision-makers about government overreach and the criminalization of natural supplements, many of which have been used safely for centuries. Once access to safe and effective natural supplements is ensured, we will work to establish the proper policies to protect consumers from mislabeled, confusing, and adulterated products. Governed by a Board of Directors, the Botanical Education Alliance is an independent institution.
